

We Are The

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

HELPING BUSINESSES HELP EMPLOYEES

The American Cancer Society works with businesses to help their employees stay healthy, eat right, avoid tobacco and get regular checkups. It's a win-win strategy. They can bring health care costs under control and improve workplace morale and productivity in the process.

ACS provides assistance for:

- Employee engagement programming
- Employee health and wellness programming
- Services for those dealing with a cancer diagnosis

EMPLOYEE WELLNESS PROGRAMS

Comprehensive workplace wellness programs and resources help employees and companies.

Tobacco Cessation Programming

Our comprehensive programs to address smoking – the #1 cause of preventable cancers – include on-site group counseling program and a low-cost, all-inclusive cessation program

Communication Assets

Two services that provide e-newsletters, both static and customizable assets, which provide up to date information on nutrition, health and general wellness topics, available in English and Spanish

Activity and Policy Planners

Self-serve, online assessment tools designed to compare a company's nutrition, physical activity, and tobacco cessation related policies, programs, and benefits against national best practices

Workplace Health Assessment

A comprehensive gap analysis that provides customized recommendations for improving workplace health by maximizing health care benefits, company policies, wellness oriented programs, and communication efforts

Every day, all day, we're there when people need us. By phone. Via email. Through online chat. In English. In Spanish. However support is needed, we will provide it. Every year, The National Cancer Information Center responds to more than one million inquiries from people looking for cancer information or programs like transportation, lodging, asking questions about clinical trials, needing assistance with health insurance or a little emotional support.

Since 1997, 17.5 million calls, emails, and online chats 24/7/365

61 million+ annual visits to cancer.org for crucial cancer information

12 million+ educational materials and brochures per year

6.3 million rides to 420,000 patients since 2005

4 million nights of free lodging at Hope Lodge® facilities, saving 550,000 patients and caregivers $466 million since 1984

Our patient navigators helping more than 500,000 patients understand the healthcare system and get help since 2005

A group of approximately ten women are standing on a stage, holding up large white signs with the words "THANK YOU" in bold black letters. They are smiling and appear to be at a breast cancer awareness event. The background is decorated with pink and white quilted panels, some featuring breast cancer awareness symbols like ribbons and hearts. A banner in the background reads "MAKING STRIDES Against Breast Cancer".

THANK YOU
